From the Commercial Advertiser,
GOD SAVE THE UNION.

By C. E. DIX.

God save the Union! it stand
And brighter make those stars which shone
Around the hallow'd glory-day
Of Freedom's birth at Lexington.
For all the blood which has been shed—
For all the patriotic dead—
For all the hearts that for us bled—
O, save the Union of the States!

God save the Union! it stand
Ye true men who rever its laws;
And, O, remember Washington,
Who crushed upress'd by your loved cause,
Be faithful to those who gave
To Freedom life—to Wrong a grave—
Be faithful now if ye would save
The sacred Union of the States.

God save the Union! it stand
Ye men whose love is Union's might—
Ye men whose hearts and hands uphold
The great omnipotence of Right,
Be faithful to one cause—the just!
The Constitution is your trust—
Would ye behold disgraced in the dust
The flag of the United States?

SWINDLING BY MACHINERY.

We do not know who is the inventor of the system of machinery described below, but he or they managed to obtain possession of large sums of money by the operation of it, which, fortunately for the Government, was nearly all recovered. We once read an account of a machine, used in a Paris gambling-house, which operated by smothering the unfortunate-fortunate winner after he had retired for the night; the top of the bed, wherein he was sleeping, descended by a screw working through the ceiling above, and thus extinguished him. The apparatus was detected by one person who refused to be "put out," and he escaped by the window and brought the detectives to the house immediately. Modern gamblers are more polite; they are averse to the shedding of blood, and therefore confine their irrepressible genius to simply robbing without the possibility of failure. Annexed is a description of the apparatus used in Cleveland, Ohio, to rob Paymaster Cook, whose case was recently noticed so generally by the press. Confid., one of the men concerned in "fleecing" the paymaster Cook, was a frequent visitor to Cleveland, and occupied room in the third story of the Parsons Block, on Superior street. The room occupied by Confid. consist of a sitting room, where the gambling was done, and a bed-room. The sitting-room was furnished in the usual manner, and had a fire-tablet in the centre of the room, with chairs placed to each. The walls and ceiling of the room are papered with paper of a star pattern. Directly over the room are two other rooms, also occupied by Confid., one of which is the star pattern in the paper, they are scarcely distinguishable from below.

Each hole is so placed as to enable a person applying his eye to it, to look directly into the hand of the player seated in the chair. An ingenious telegraphic signal machine was discovered, communicating between those holes in the room above and the chair of the gambler in the room below. A wire, having a handle near the hole, passed along between the flooring of the room above and the ceiling of the room below to the corner of the gambling-room and bed-room. It enters the bed-room and passes down in the corner, being concealed by a strip of board nailed up and papered over. It then passes under the floor of the gambling-room to the table, where a small piece of the flooring has been cut away close by the table leg, where the left foot of the gambler would be placed whilst playing. There it terminates in a spring and hammer, concealed by the carpet. The method of working this invention for robbing by machinery seems to have been as follows: The victim to be operated upon finds two chairs drawn up to the table. In one of these the gambling thief seats himself, at once placing his foot over the telegraph hammer. The victim is obliged to take the other, which is placed in the proper position for playing. The gambler's accomplice in the room above stretches himself on a mattress with his eye at the peep-hole—and one hand grasping the telegraph handle. The hole is so placed that he can look directly down into the hand of his victim. As soon as he sees the cards he telegraphs their description according to an arranged code of signals by pulling the handle, when the hammer strikes the desired number of raps on the sole of the gambler's boot or slipper, the sound being muffled by the carpet. Of course, it is easy to see that the man who sits down to play with such a gambler is robb'd as surely, completely and systematically, as if he had been bound hand and foot, and delivered over to a highwayman; and of the two robbers, a highwayman would be the more decent man.

TO THE LADIES.—The celebrated DR. J. DIX particularly invites all who feel a call to the service, to call at his Room, No. 21 Brudenell Street, Boston, Mass., which they will find arranged for their special accommodation.

DR. DIX having devoted over twenty years to this particular branch of the treatment of all diseases, especially to females, it is now conceded all over in this country and in Europe that he is a very skillful practitioner in the safe, speedy and efficient treatment of all female complaints.

His practices are replete with the express purpose of removing all disease, as well as debility, weakness, unnecessary surgeries, embangements of the womb, also all discharges which flow from a morbid state of the blood. The Doctor is more fully prepared to treat in his peculiar style, both medically and surgically, all diseases of the female sex, and they are specially invited to call at

NO FIRE IN THE BARRACKS.

A letter to the New York Evening Post, dated Army of the Potomac, March 9, says:

"The most eloquent voice yet raised against dishonestable peers and the machinations of traitors at home, is that of the Forty-fourth Regiment New York Volunteers, in the adjourned barracks, which was this day adopted with startling unanimity, every officer and soldier present in the regiment subscribing his name to it with enthusiastic earnestness."

"The words are few, but well chosen, vigorous and pregnant with truth. These men have a right thus to speak—their battles, their bravery, their discipline and their honorable sons, entitle them to a hearing. Let no one fail to read this stirring appeal in favor of the war, by those who are fighting for it, and let sympathetic traitors hang their heads for shame to be thus rebuked by patriots like them."

THE LIAISON BUREAU TO ITS FRIENDS.

An Appeal to the People of the State of New York:

We can no longer keep silent. A sacred devotion to our country, an ardent love for our homes, and above all, an abiding faith in God, bids us speak. For nearly two years we have suffered all things, periled all things, endured all things, for the sake of our common country. We have left our homes, our kindred, our friends, the fireside of our youth, the sacred place of prayer, and all the nearest and dearest relations of life, to serve our country. We have endured hunger, thirst, cold and heat. By day and night we have borne the weight of our knapsacks and the weariness of the march. We have worked late and early in the trenches, we have bivouacked in the swamps; we have suffered sickness in the hospitals; we have not been spared from "the pestilence that walketh in darkness," nor from "the destruction that wasteth man day." We have never shrunk from duty, but rather have again and again cheerfully sought death, even at the cannon's mouth, to save our Union from destruction, our homes from disgrace, and you and your children from eternal shame.

When we came to the field we came with your blessing. You told us to go—that God would be with us, and that your most fervent prayers should follow us. Encouraged by your words of patriotism, of hope, of faith, we came to the war. After suffering thus much in behalf of you and your children, and the nation's honor, dear alike to us all, will you withhold from us now your sympathy and support? Will you join with those, worse than traitors, at the North, who cry "Peace" when they know there is no peace, nor can be none till this unholy rebellion is crushed? Will you ally yourselves with those who, by words of discouragement, are prolonging this war, and who are thus becoming, in the sight of both Heaven and earth, the hideous murderers of our sons and brothers here in the field? Why should you, who suffer none of the dangers, none of the privations of field or camp, be less patriotic, less hopeful, less confident in God and the holy cause in which we are engaged, than we who endure all?

Shall the future historian, in writing the record of this great struggle, declare with truthfulness that the people of the North, having sent their sons to the field, to peril their lives for the safety of their homes, their property and the national government; having pointed out at the first blush of their patriotism their treasure and blood with freeness of water, at length, through indifference and apathy, and the love of ease and luxury which the war engendered, sought the unsafe terms of an inglorious peace, and finally shamed only subversive to those whom they attempted to subdue?

That this shall not be the record of the Empire State, with your sympathy and hearty cooperation we, the undersigned officers, non-commissioned officers and privates, of the Forty-fourth Regiment New York State Volunteers, representing every county from Lake Erie to the ocean, here pledge anew our lives and our sacred honor. For we feel assured that if we seek peace upon any terms less than those of an entire subversion on the part of the traitors in arms to the government of the United States, that that peace will only be temporary, and that sooner or later you will be obliged to send your younger sons and brothers to enrich the soil already fertile with the dead—youth and tender blood to re-enrich on these streams already red with slaughter.

Headquarters, Forty-fourth Regiment, New York State Volunteers, Camp near Fairhaven, Va., March 9, 1863.

Signed, Colonel James C. Rice, Major F. G. Kinn, Surgeon W. W. Tompkins, Adjutant Gen. B. H. Hendren, Lieutenant F. R. Mundy, Quartermaster, and others.

The English Press on French Revolution. The English papers are in high glee over Secretary Seward's reply to the French Emperor's protest of intervention. It is next to them. They cannot conceal their gratification at seeing the crafty and unscrupulous policy of the powerful empire of France openly despised and coolly defied by the representative of the transatlantic Republic, which they affect to regard as on the verge of ruin.

Mr. Seward's firm but courteous rejection of French mediation, and his invitation to the Emperor of France to use his influence to induce the rebel states to resort to the only advisable mode of redress in Congress, according to the constitution of the United States, is construed by these scoundrels into a high and a stain on French honor. They cannot conceal their hopes that the French may lead to a quarrel, and effect to won over to the subversion of the United States in providing so powerful an antagonist.

It would certainly be a triumph of English diplomacy to drive France into conflict with the United States, and for sake of such a combination would gladly forgo the privilege of building iron-clad blockade-runners for the "Emperor of China." In such a contest she would be sure to be neutral. It would give her cotton in the first place, and open the contingency of seeing her powerful next door Gallic neighbor soundly thrashed, and utterly exhausted by the cost of distant foreign war. It is as much to the interest of England to provoke such a quarrel as it is to France and the United States to avoid it.—N. Y. Sun.

Local News Item.

Mr. FREEMAN'S LECTURE ON BRAZIL, last evening was not merely good, it was perfectly delightful. He did not give a dry, stilted account of the country, but took his audience with him in fancy to Rio Janeiro, describing the city, the bay, the habits and manners of the people with most charming simplicity. He had intended to leave in the boat for New York where he was to address an audience this evening. But his harshest son plainly could not spare him, neither could he quit his subject, and for an hour and three quarters he kept them fully interested. His success was complete. He is thoroughly master of his subject, full of the kindest humor, with the keenest appreciation of the ludicrous. No one who was present, will willingly be absent from his next lecture on the Amazon, to-morrow night.

We can hardly advise all to attend, and assure them that the value of the information attained is far exceeded by the enjoyment of its reception. Mr. F.'s travels in Brazil are hardly more arduous than his journey here. Lecturing at Newport last evening, in New York to-night, he has to leave there to-morrow evening and reach home by the way of the ferries in order to address an audience to-morrow evening.

Our New York Correspondence.

NEW YORK, March 17, 1863.

To The News.—The tremendous war meetings have been held in this city and in Brooklyn since my last. As I wrote you how enthusiastic and earnest Union the last meeting was, let me now repeat it for these, with a greater emphasis. Last Saturday evening our splendid capacious Academy of Music was a scene that was above could produce. The vast building was a complete jam of loyal men and women, eager for Union and enthusiastic in applauding the fine sentiments of the right loyal speakers. The body of the house was filled mostly by ladies. The stage had a course near the stage were Secretary Chase and Welles, Gen. W. Field, the Mayor with ladies. In a box near the stage were Secretary Chase and Welles, Gen. W. Field, the Mayor with ladies. The speakers were James T. Brady, ever ready and off-hand, with a good deal of digression, but uttering for a vigorous support and exhortation of the war; Gov. Wright of Indiana, who made one of the most stirring speeches I have ever heard, and whose honest Western way, and fervent manner gave zest to his words; and the sturdy, enduring patriot Gov. Andrew Johnson of Tennessee. His speech was emphatic and truly eloquent. It was a long, earnest, loyal talk right from the heart. It was such words as need to come from such a man, and they were listened to, and reverently applauded. During that part of it where he described the trials and sufferings of the Unionists in his State, the great audience were moved to tears. The speaker's bold truthful denunciation of traitors and treason, and his utterances of confidence and hope in the cause, and a determination to stand by the flag forevermore, made his eloquence superior and touching. The resolutions passed at this meeting were to the point—relating all falling of fit endeavor and faith in the part of the North, and all else, any undermining of the Government by bondsmen; giving wholly the aid of the people of New York to the prosecution of the war; forming a National Loyalty League, with General Winfield Scott as President, and a host of solid men of the city as Vice Presidents; that it was the duty of all Northern men to sustain the Administration, to be prompt and faithful and true citizens during this great peril.—The roll book of the Loyalty League are open to all: many hundred names being already there. Leagues are forming in the various Wards. The old fire has been lighted. A complete reunion has taken place in public sentiment. Utterly it is a discount. The Brooklyn meeting last night was a rousing encounter with the one this side of the river. The same kind of meetings are to be held in Jersey City and the vicinity. Gov. Wright is going East—to Connecticut, to oppose his mighty influence to the tide of treason that comes to crawl and fester in that sober state. Would not do over good work in Rhode Island? He may give you a taste of his patriotic glow. Gov. Johnson being obliged to return home immediately declined the reception tendered him by the city, but hoped soon to partake of it. I would be glad to tell you what he said.

The Hon. Schuyler Colfax has paid over his mileage in the last Congress amounting to $30,000, to the Indiana commission for the relief of sick and wounded soldiers.

The assembled universe is likely to be allowed a brief respite from Secretary Seward's dispatches, as he has despatched his right hand by catching at a 14-line razor, while shaving.

The amount of money taken from letters at the "Dead Letter Office" will probably amount to eighty thousand dollars for the present year, being some thirty thousand more than the average for past years.

Judge Constable, of the Fourth Judicial Circuit of Illinois, has been arrested by order of Gen. Wright, for resisting the arrest of deserters. He will be tried by the United States Court at Indianapolis.

The Senate nominated just before adjournment Saturday, as Major Generals of Volunteers, the following: Gen. Sumner, Gen. Steele, Gen. Burnside, and Gen. Stoneman.

Accompanying the charges preferred in the report of the Congressional Committee against Mr. Holloway, the Comptroller of Patents, was a statement of that gentleman, denying and explaining most of the questionable points referred to.

General Stark, who was confirmed as Major General on Saturday, has been assigned to the command of all the cavalry force in the Department at Washington.

A slight display from Washington to the N. Mersey says: "Hoover will be ready to move in about a week. It is rumored that he was to march on Richmond by the way of Urbana, on the lower Rappahannock.

Maj. Gen. Hallock has addressed a letter to Maj. Gen. Rosecrans, approving the suggestion of Gen. Reynolds in regard to the more right treatment of disloyal persons within the lines of our army in Tennessee.

The Poles of New York held a large and enthusiastic meeting on Saturday evening, to take proper measures for expressing their sympathy with their brethren in arms against the Russians for their national independence. The proceedings were only preliminary to a larger demonstration.

Two thousand dollars were subscribed at the Corn Exchange, Philadelphia, on Friday, for the benefit of the distressed cotton weavers and laundry embroiderers in the North of Ireland. The misery to which this class is subjected is said to be more intense and appalling than that which has afflicted the factory operatives at Lancashire.

Mrs. Laura Keene has commenced a farewell engagement at her theatre. Many rumors are flying as to her future course. It may be she intends erecting a new theatre up town, or over in Boston, or intends retirement to enjoy her wealth. Rumor says they are all possible. The theatres are all doing well, and amusements generally are brisk.

STATE NEWS.

The Democratic District Convention for the Eastern District met by adjournment at 11 o'clock yesterday morning at the State House, in the Representatives Chamber. The President, George Howland, Esq., in the chair.

Vacancies in several delegations were filled by the substitution of other gentlemen from the several towns.

On motion of Col. Olney Arnold, Charles S. Bradley, of North Providence, was by a unanimous vote nominated as Democratic candidate for Congress from the Eastern District.

Mrs. Olney Arnold, N. Van Slyck and N. E. Verry were appointed Committee to visit Mr. Bradley and ask his acceptance.

Mr. Van Slyck suggested that Mr. Bradley was out of the city, it would be impossible to ascertain whether or not he would accept the nomination, although Mr. Van Slyck had no doubt of such acceptance.

On motion, the State Central Committee was authorized to make the nomination in case Mr. Bradley declines.

Adjourned sine die.—Prec.

On Monday afternoon, between one and four o'clock, the cotton mill belonging to Messrs. Durfee, Olney and Lewis O. Kenyon, in Allston, was completely destroyed by fire. The fire originated on the third floor, in the upper room, and is said to have been caused by a nail or some hard substance which, in passing through the machinery, set fire to the cotton.

In spite of strenuous exertions to check and extinguish the flames, they speedily flashed through and enveloped the under stories of the building, and rapidly extended over the entire structure.

The larger portion of the machinery, which was owned by Mr. Kenyon alone, was removed and saved, but not without sustaining considerable damage. Mr. Kenyon was insured in the sum of $1,000 on the machinery, and $1,000 on his part of the mill. Mr. Olney's policy had expired recently. A correspondent says: "No fire which I have seen has been burning so hot and so long, and with such intensity, as this."—Prec.

All the officers and men of the fleet are rejoiced at the approach of the termination of their long, dull and gloomy life as blockaders, and expect soon to be riding at anchor in Charleston Harbor. The vessels here are all prepared for the conflict, and Admiral Dupont has given his large fleet is soon expected to arrive from Port Royal.

It is known for a certainty by many officers in the fleet that the day for the grand attack has been appointed, and ere this letter reaches you, the bill will have commenced.

Admiral DuPont officially notified all foragers resident in Charleston to quit the same by a certain day, which I am not permitted to mention.

Charleston is to be besieged on the Northern and Southern sides. Troops will be landed with heavy siege guns, under cover of the guns of the fleet, which will be so effectively carried out as to inspire success.

Gen. Foster's troops have received marching orders, with twenty days' rations. Their destination you can guess; and no doubt you at the North will soon hear from them in a manner that will create the wildest joy throughout the loyal states.

All the foreign ships have left Charleston since the notice of Admiral Dupont was served on them.

Nearly all the inhabitants have also left the city, the dwellings and stores are closed, and the city is in full possession of the rebel troops and sailors, who are having a gay time by pinching down any quantity of whiskey, which is served out to them freely in order to keep them from deserting.

Died.

On Tuesday the 11th inst., of consumption, Dr. J. J. Ell. Friends of the family are invited to attend the funeral services at the North Baptist Church, on Friday afternoon at 2½ o'clock.

The funeral will take place from her late residence, No. 21 Walnut street, on Friday, March 19th, at 3 o'clock p.m., to which relatives and friends are invited without further notice.
